My technique (the glovebox is out with incessant regularity) is to leave the hinge bit screwed on but take out the screws along the top and inside at the back, pull the top forward and down on the hinge till you meet resistance then yank a tad harder and it will hinge totally forward. Then I take the hinge screws out and it falls out.

There should be 3 screws along the top (when glove box opened). They usually have black square caps over them. Just pop them off and there are your screws. There are then 2 more at the bottom on the under- side of the glove box. They are slightly sunken but you'll see the holes. Its really simple to take it off. Done it loads of times.

Joined Jul 3, 2002. . 628 Posts. #4 | Sep 5, 2003. My glovebox has 5 Torx T-20 screws securing it, two at the top, two at the sides and one in the center rear of the glovebox. It's very easy to remove, it will basically fall out once you undo those screws. If you are reverting to the shelf, you may wish to tape up the wire harness for the glovebox light and you may also wish to cap the outlet on the climate control box that directs cold air into the glovebox.

Close the glovebox. With the 8mm wrench, remove the 3 screws from the back of the box. A ratcheting combination wrench will make this part easier, but you can also use a normal combination wrench, or a 1/4" drive socket wrench. When you remove the last screw, be prepared to support the box with your hand.
